SERIOUS DAMAGE.

EXTINJS TO THE EAST

Reports From Different Cities in the State Tell of the Conditions—
—No Change in Prospect.Wisconsin Weather.
Threatening with snow tonight,
possibly in the eastern part Sunday.
Continued cold; temperature below
freezing.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Chicago, April 23.—The eastward
moving storm which was manifested
yesterday by rain and high wind, has turned to snow and freezing temperatures in the western lake region
and upper Mississippi valley today.
Kills Fruit.Building fruit in northern Indiana,
western Michigan, Illinois, Iowa, Wisconsin, Minnesota and Missouri have been damaged to millions of dollars.Lake Dangerous.
Lake Michigan has been lashed into a fury and vessels experienced the greatest difficulty making port.Severe Freeze Coming.
The weather bureau predicts a severe freeze tonight and further damage to vegetation.In Chicago City.
Chicago and the vicinity is in the
grasp of a heavy snow and violent wind storm. The steamship town, of the Goodrich line, carrying some passengers, is aground between Lachine
and Kenosha but in no danger.All the passengers of the town were taken off this afternoon.

In Wisconsin.

Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—A blizard is raging in almost the entire state of Wisconsin today. There are several inches of snow in Milwaukee
and two feet in Marinette.At Marinette.
Marinette, Wis., April 23.—Storm
reports from Marinette have been greatly exaggerated. A half inch and half rain storm has been raging here
for twelve hours. There has been no damage done to crops as reported, as yet, and the weather is much milder.Near Green Bay.
Green Bay, Wis., April 23.—Green Bay and the vicinity is experiencing
one of the worst blizzards of the year, the wind reaching a velocity of forty-four miles an hour and eight inches of snow has fallen with no signs of abatement.The reports from the surrounding towns say that there is no let-up in the storm as yet.In Northwestern Portion.
Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—The reports from Eau Claire and Chippewa
falls state that a bad storm is raging
over that section of the state. At noon
four inches of snow had fallen and all vegetation is frosted.Train Service Here.
Despite the heavy wind and drifting
snow in Janesville, there was little interference of traffic on other railroad or the interurban. With nearly cessations, all trains were run nearly
on time. On the St. Paul Ry., train 131 due here from Chicago at 10:25,
was over half an hour late and No. 21,
due here from Milwaukee at 10:10,
was nearly forty minutes behind
time which delayed other morning
passengers which were forced to wait
long.Alarm Wires Broken.
The suddenness and fury of the storm caused a disarrangement of the city's fire alarm system. The wires began snapping about five o'clock this morning, the fire bell tapping every time a wire was broken.
The chief was out early making repairs and by noon the system was in working order again.A BOXER DIES FROM

O'Brien at Brockton, Dies
From Injuries.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Boston, Mass., April 23.—Max Lundy, a boxer who spurred a six-round
draw with Joe O'Brien of Cambridge,
at Brockton last night, was found dead in bed at his home in Roxbury today. Lundy was knocked down several times during the fight.MISS ADELAIDE McALPIN
WEDS THOS. E. HAMBLETON.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 23.—A wedding of interest to society today was that of Miss Adelaide McAlpin, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. William W. McAlpin, and Thomas Edward Hambleton, son of the late Gen. Frank S. Hambleton
and Mrs. Hambleton of Baltimore.
The ceremony took place this afternoon in the Madison Avenue Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Dr. Coffey officiating. A reception at the home of the bride's parents followed.CORNERSTONE LAID FOR A NEW AGRICULTURAL SCHOOLTulaluma, Okla., April 23.—In the presence of the members of the State board of agriculture and other interested spectators the cornerstone was laid today for the new building of the Murray district school of agriculture. H. L. Muldrow, past grand master of the Masonic lodge of Oklahoma, delivered the principal ad-

Naming United States Senator
Is Good One.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Indianapolis, Ind., April 23.—Governor Marshall has received a letter from William J. Bryan congratulating the Governor upon his efforts to have the next week's democratic convention endorse the candidate for the United States senate. The opposition to the convention endorsing a candidate is led by Thomas Taggart, an aspirant for the office.NURSE ADMITS SHE DID NOT SEE HYDE
ADMINISTER POISONMiss Houllihan's Story Begins to Break Down Under Cross-Examination
of Attorneys for Defense.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Kansas City, Mo., April 23.—Attorneys for Dr. Hyde, charged with the murder of Col. Swope, were well pleased with the developments of the cross-examination of Miss Houllihan, the nurse, this morning. That the nurse never saw Stella Swope, to whom Dr. Hyde had given candy seven days before she was attacked with typhoid, cut any connection was brought out by Miss Houllihan, who also admitted she did not see Dr.
Hyde administer any capsules to Colonel Swope the day the patient
had his first convulsion.GENERAL MAGRUDER EIGHTY-FIVE TODAYOne Of Oldest U. S. Army Officers On Retired List Celebrates Birthday
At Bryn Mawr.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Philadelphia, April 23.—At his home
in Bryn Mawr, Pa., David L.
Magruder, one of the oldest officers
on the retired list of the United States
army, celebrated his eighty-fifth birthday today. General Magruder
entered the army as an assistant surgeon in 1870 and participated in many of the great battles of the civil war. He was retired for age in 1889.STATE COMMISSION
HAS FINAL POWERSDudgeon, the Man Who Helped Draw
Up the Law, Gives
Facts.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Milwaukee, Wis., April 23.—It Dudgeon, who was connected with the legislation of the reference bureau
and helped draw the public utility bill,
confirmed the fact that the railroad commission of Wisconsin had full control of the state railroads in the state and that Milwaukee as well as other cities have practically no control over the street railway companies.ARE DETERMINED TO GET BALLINGER OUTTestimony in Investigation Today
That Friends of Pinchot Are Working Hard to Oust
Ballinger.[BY ASSOCIATED PRESS.]
Washington, D. C., April 23.—At the Ballinger-Pinchot investigation today
Director Smith of the Geological Survey, swore that Acting Forester Price
told him:
"We don't like your chief (meaning Ballinger). If we don't get him out
we will get him another."
From this the "defence" believes if Pinchot is unsuccessful in bringing about the downfall of Ballinger by the Glavis charges he is prepared to attack him in another quarter.ABANDON PLANS FOR

Washington, D. C., April 23.—The proposed South Polar expedition, under the auspices of the Peary Arctic Club and the National Geographic Society, has been abandoned for this year.JEWISH FESTIVAL
OF THE PASSOVERCelebration Begins at Sunset Tonight
and Will Be in Progress For Eight Days.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
New York, April 23.—The celebration of the Jewish festival of "Pesach," or the Passover, begins at sunset this evening, and will continue with more or less formality in the Jewish community for the next eight days. It is the first festival of the Jewish ecclesiastical year and, according to tradition, it was instituted
by Moses to commemorate the infernal escape of the children of Israel from Egypt, where they had been held in bondage for upward of
four years.

CABLE CHESS MATCHTeams Representing British and American Institutions Begin Play
At London And Princeton, N. J.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Princeton, N. J., April 23.—Play in the cable chess match between teams
representing British and American universities for the International challenger trophy presented by Isaac L.
Rice began at ten o'clock this morning, the Americans playing in Mexico and the British in Princeton, N. J.
The match is being played in the Hall of the Princeton University,
while the English players were quartered in the rooms of the Metropolitan
Chess Club of London.STIRRING TIMES 50
YEARS AGO TODAYHistoric National Democratic Convention Assembled in Charleston Just Half A Century Ago.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Charleston, S. C., April 23.—Today marked the fiftyth anniversary of the assembling of the historic National Democratic convention in Charleston of the stirring events that immediately preceded the war. The convention was symbolic of the times.
No candidate was chosen,
though the convention lasted many days, this because of a disagreement between the northern and southern sections of the party on the slavery question. The southern delegates halted the convention. The anti-slavery delegates met at Baltimore in June and named Stephen A. Douglas of Illinois for President. About the same time the ultra-southerners met and nominated John C. Breckinridge of Kentucky for President and Joseph Lane of Oregon for Vice President.MOBILE AWAITS THE CONFEDERATE "VETS"Alabama Metropolis Is in Gala Dress
in Anticipation of Advent of Old
Army Boys Next Week.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Mobile, Ala., April 23.—Decorated
as never before in her history the old city of Mobile is awaiting the coming of the host of Confederate veterans,
sons of the Confederacy and other veterans from all quarters who are to be entertained here during the coming week. The occasion will be the twentyth annual reunion of the veterans, and the fifteenth of the sons
The city is prepared to extend a hearty welcome to the visitors.
The Confederate colors are much in evidence. Pictures of Lee, Jackson, Longstreet, Beauregard, Johnston,
Wheeler and other famous soldiers of the Confederate States Army
are to be seen in great profusion.
The arrangements committee has prepared for the entertainment of 50, 000 visitors and it is believed fully
this number will be on hand by Monday morning. The advance guard has already put in an appearance and tomorrow the regular and numerous extra trains will pour thousands of visitors into the city from every section of the south. Monroe Park, which is easy of access from all the depots and hotels, will be made a general rendezvous for renewing acquaintances. The general sessions of the reunion are to be held in the park auditorium, which has been elaborately decorated for the occasion.

be the chief speakers Monday afternoon at the dedication of the Carnegie library building at Howard University. The following day the President and Mr. Carnegie will also speak at the formal dedicatory exercises of the new home of the International Bureau of American Republics recently completed in the national capitol. At the latter function the participants will also include the members of the cabinet and the diplomatic representatives of all of the South and Central American republics and Mexico.Several important congressional hearings are scheduled for the week. A series of hearings on the proposed establishment of a permanent board to establish a permanent board to Monday before the House Committee on Post Office and Post Roads. On the same day the Senate Committee
on Manufactures will begin hearings on Senator Lodge's bill prohibiting the sale of goods for more than one year's duration which may pass into law.The political situation in Indiana
will take on added interest Wednesday, when the Democrats will assemble in State convention in Indianapolis and respond by the nomination of a ticket and the adoption of a platform to the action recently
taken by the republicans, who adopted
resolutions of a decidedly "insurgent" character. Another feature of the Democratic convention that is awaiting with interest is the action that will be taken in respect to the suggestion of Governor Marshall to indorse a candidate for the United States senate.Former President Roosevelt is scheduled to remain in Paris until the latter part of the week, when he will go to Brussels for a day's visit and thence on to The Hague for a stay of equally short duration.Two much-discussed and often-postponed court cases are to come up for trial Monday in widely separated parts of the country. In San Francisco the second trial for bribery of Patrick Cathoun, president of the United Railroads, is scheduled to begin. In New York, in the United States Court, F. Augustus Holme,
the "copper king" of Montana and
New York, is to be placed on trial
on charges of over certification and misapplication of the funds of the Mercantile National Bank.The important convention of the week will include the reunion of the United Confederate Veterans in Mobile, the annual convention of the American Newspaper Publishers Association in New York, the national congress of the Sons of the American Revolution in Toledo, the meeting of

GENERAL ELECTIONPremier Briand Has Proven Himself
a Great Man in Great Emergencies and Will Be Indorsed Tomorrow.[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]
Paris, April 23.—Were it not for the multicolored election posters with which all public buildings and bulletin boards in Paris and everywhere
throughout France are plastered over,
visiting strangers would scarcely suspect that France is on the very eve
of a general election, to be held tomorrow, with second ballots, where-necessary, to be cast on May 8. So little excitement is displayed by the public that politics in France were in a state of profound apathy. That is not so, however.It is quite true that the election
to be held tomorrow promises to be extremely quiet and unimportant,
but this should not be interpreted as an indication that the voters take no interest in the issues and the final result of the election contest. The apparent apathy, aside from certain instances in which local issues have caused a mild form of excitement, may be accounted for by the fact that there is no contention between great issues before the country at this time.The great majority of the voters is perfectly satisfied with the administration in power and does not wish a change. Premier Briand, as the successor of the able Clemenceau, has been at the helm of the government
during a most trying period in the history of the republic. With admirable skill and infinite tact he has avoided the dangerous rifts during the past year, with which the separation of church and state was accompanied. With unimpeachable firmness, but, at the same time, avoiding all unnecessary friction, he has carried out the policy of the government
and thus won the respect even of those who opposed the principle of a separation.M. Briand proved himself a man of exceptional ability, a statesman of soundness and perspicacity, a politician of tact and, above all, a thoroughly honest and fearless man and staunch republican. His political and administrative record is clean and above reproach and even the extremists of the opposition, the extreme socialists, and ultra conservatives
have no fault to find with M. Briand as a citizen or official. Therein lies his strength. Even the disclosures of the malodorous Duz scandal, showing an almost incredible corruption
in the administration of the church
property expropriated by the state,
did not weaken M. Briand's strength.
Calmly he disarmed his enemies by pointing to the fact that it was not as Minister of Justice, but as Minister of the Interior, that he had attended to the corruption and investigation which led to the exposure of the frauds and defalcations. Thus the scandal itself and the severe punishment of the offenders, instead of weakening Briand's position, materially increased his prestige.Although far from being an extremist, M. Briand originally came from the ranks of the socialists and
two of the members of his cabinet,
M. Millerand and Viviani, of the declared socialists. This fact took the wind out of the sails of the extreme
wing of the opposition and made effective parliamentary polemics between them and the government practically impossible. At the same time the moderation and conservatism manifested by the essentially bourgeois cabinet, under M. Briand's leadership in carrying out its programs has disarmed the extreme right, composed of the various royalist elements.M. Briand is a hard and conscientious worker and has surrounded himself with men equally capable and willing to work indefatigably. His ability and resourcefulness during the critical time of the disastrous floods
won him general esteem and his strong endorsement of proportional representation, which may be considered the main issue at tomorrow's election, make his position practically impregnable. There is scarcely any doubt that tomorrow's election will result in a victory of the government.Dahl Will Run.

[SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.]

Madison, Wis., April 23.—Alfred T.
Rogers, working at Madison with two assistants, has started the campaign of Senator Robert M. La Follette for re-election to the United States senate. Mr. Rogers is the law partner of the senator. He is also the Wisconsin member of the national republican committee. His working assistants are A. T. Torgo, assistant secretary of state, and Herman L. Ekern, deputy commissioner of insurance.
The latter it was who two years ago
as treasurer of the La Follette presidential campaign committee secured
from United States Senator Isaac Stephenson a contribution of $1,000 to the La Follette fund. He was also former speaker of the Wisconsin
legislative assembly but was retired
in Trempealeau county by a stalwart youth fresh from college, Arthur Twomey. Up in Ashland, the La Follette campaign is being carried on by State Senator A. W. Sunborn, who was chairman of the La Follette presidential campaign committee. Right now the work of the campaign appears to be mainly the lining up of legislative candidates. It has been decided that republican candidates for the senate and assembly must declare unequivocally to stand by La Follette for re-election no matter
what may come, or else they will not receive the support of the La Follette organization. Senator La Follette has made and will make no specific campaign platform announcement, going on the assumption that his attack on the administration railroad bill and a prospective attack upon the new tariff law will be sufficient platform. The state will be flooded with these speeches under the frank of the senator.Cook's Platform.
Former Congressman Samuel A.
Cook of Neenah has this week given out in writing his views of the political situation and his stand on the leading issues of the day. His declaration is frankly in approval and support of the administration of President Taft as being an earnest, honest and effective, carrying forth of the promises of the republican party as set forth in the platform adopted by the national republican convention which nominated Mr. Taft for the presidency. He specifically declares
his favor of an intelligent and fair
policy of conservation of natural resources in the interests of the people.
He reiterates his belief in the republican policy of protection for American industry. He is particularly in controversy with the stand of Senator La Follette in that Mr. Cook declares himself for the fulfillment of the pledges of the national republican platform and the backing of the Taft administration, and likewise for party
rule by majorities. Senator La Follette, on the other hand, had clearly made it known that he is fighting the Taft administration, that he is no more in accord now with the national republican platform than he was when he fought its adoption in the national convention in Chicago, and that he looks upon the new law as a revision upward, a backing on of prices upon articles of basic necessity
and that the bill ought to be revised without delay.Mr. Cook declares that he favors scientific tariff revision, rather than political or factional revision, and that he would give the present law sufficient time for fair trial and observation. The two candidates for the republican nomination
for United States senator will have to make their fight mainly upon their claim on the questions of giving the new tariff law a trial, on backing or opposing the Taft administration.
The issue seems clearly laid down as "emergency vs. Taft."Two State Contests.
So far as places on the republican state ticket of Wisconsin are concerned there are likely to be only two contests this year. The governorship has a field of five candidates, and two present members of the office staff of Attorney General F. L. Gilbert are attending the nomination for that place, but
Secretary of State Fear and State Treasurer Dahl will probably have no opposition. For commissioner of insurance George E. Beedle may be nominated, unless, as reported, there
be an agreement in which he assents
to withdraw in favor of his deputy,
H. L. Ekern. Secretary of State
Fear, whose home is at Hudson, St.
Croix county, is taking a deep interest in the state educational institutions and has devoted much time to traveling with members of the state board of control inspecting the several asylums and prisons. He has particularly interested himself in the epidemics of fever at the insane asylums at Mendota and Waubesa, at both of which places conditions have been so improved that the quarantines against further commitments
thereto have been relaxed. However,
at the state school for dependent and neglected children at Sparta, conditions are still alarming, some twenty-five children being now afflicted with scarlet fever.Dahl Will Run.
State Treasurer Dahl is suffering with bad health, due mainly to a recalcitrant stomach. He recently had to cease work at the capitol and rest.
He is by no means in a serious condition, however. He has practically completed his announcement of his candidacy for a third term and will give it out in a few days.Attorney Gay.

Umbrellas For Men Women and Children

A great many people are not aware of the large assortment we carry on hand at all times of strictly high grade umbrellas all our goods are factory made and for this reason are more reliable than goods bought through middleman and jobbers.

Our umbrellas for men and women at $1.00 have paragon steel frames just like the $2 ones, and have good serviceable covers and neat handles. Our finer umbrellas at $1.50 and $1.98 are equal to many sold elsewhere at $2.50 and $3.00.

In children's school umbrellas we have the short handy ones just for children, strongly made, and neat in appearance, how they can be made so well to sell for 50c puzzles everybody.

DOLLIVER BLOCKS RATE VOTE.

Iowa Senator Starts Filibuster on Taft Railroad Bill.

Washington, April 23.—Senator Dolliver of Iowa, by starting a little filibuster, prevented a vote on the pooling provision of the railroad rate bill. As a result Senator Ellkins was compelled to submit to another day's delay in his plans to have the administration measure disposed of next week.

The action of Senator Dolliver was also a jolt to Senator Aldrich, who visited the White House, where he told Senator Dolliver.

President Taft that things looked easy for getting the presidential program through at an early date.

The debate was on the pooling section permitting the railroads to enter into traffic agreements, and after the pros and cons of this question had been presented at some length it appeared for a few moments as if a vote might be obtained. The yeas and nays had been ordered when Senator Dolliver expressed a desire to be heard on an amendment. As he did not want to proceed at so late an hour some friendly senator raised the point of no quorum.

Only 44 senators responded to their names, and the senate was compelled to close its session at an earlier hour than Mr. Ellkins desired.

16 KILLED IN MINE EXPLOSION.

Seven Unconscious Men Are Taken From Amsterdam Shaft in Ohio.

Amsterdam, O., April 23.—The blackened, black-damp filled shaft of the Youngloughy & Ohio Coal company's Amsterdam mine, gave up 16 dead, killed in a gas explosion. All the bodies were brought to the pit's mouth, there to be seized by the weeping, mourning women, who, since the dull rumble and roar of the explosion have watched through tears hoping a miracle might bring forth alive some few of the missing. Seven miners escaped; Mine Boss Ed, Jones bringing them through the air shaft. Twenty-five were in the mine. Six bodies had been found and brought to the foot of the shaft, when the fan broke down. Fire damp and flames halted rescue work then till the fan could be repaired. The women, frantic at cessation of the work, stormed the pit mouth. Several were prevented by force from hurling themselves into the shaft's depths.

The explosion broke windows in the town, shattered the windows in the caboose of a passing freight train, and blew the mine tipples to bits. But the mine suffered little damage.

Taggart Announces His Candidacy. Indianapolis, April 23.—In a formal statement, Thomas Taggart says that he is a candidate for the United States senate, should the state convention decide to nominate, and should it not, he will be a candidate before the legislative caucus.

TRIBUTE TO MARK TWAIN

GREAT MEMORIAL SERVICE IN NEW YORK IN MEMORY OF AUTHOR.

MOURNING IS WORLD WIDE

Simple Funeral Services Accord With Wishes of Humorist—Body Will Be Buried Sunday in Family Lot at Elmira, N. Y.

New York, April 23.—Following out one of his last requests, simple and unostentatious funeral services were held over the body of Samuel Langhorne Clemens in this city today. He will be buried at Elmira, N. Y., on Sunday, and the body will be dressed in one of the white flannel suits which he had worn so frequently when in life. Interment will be in the family plot by the side of his wife and three children. In a severely plain mahogany casket the body was brought from his country home, Stormfield, at Redding, Conn., in a private car attached to the regular morning express. At three o'clock there was a formal service at the brick Presbyterian church, Thirty-seventh street and Fifth avenue, Rev. Dr. Henry Van Dyke of Princeton, preaching a short sermon.

Services Are Semi-Public. The services were semi-public with an advance admission by card for relatives and friends. Within a week or ten days, according to F. A. Duneka of Harper & Brothers and Fred Higlouo Paine, the humorist's secretary, there will be a public memorial service in one of the large halls of the city. This will give the general public a chance to show their grief at his death and their appreciation of the works he leaves behind.

It was learned from those who have had charge of Mr. Clemens' business affairs in hand that he leaves an estate valued at a million dollars, or possibly a little less. The most valuable assets are the copyright and royalty rights to his many books. They have been bringing him an income of $50,000 for some time.

According to Mr. Duneka, his publisher, the highest price Mark Twain ever received for his writing was 30 cents a word, which has been his prevailing rate for several years. In addition to his literary fortune, Mr. Clemens had a house on Fifth avenue and an estate worth $40,000 at Redding, Conn.

Daughter Gets Bulk of Fortune. There is no hint from his executors as to the nature of his will, which will be filed at Danbury, Conn., shortly after he is buried. It is said, however, that the bulk of his fortune will go to his only surviving daughter, Mrs. Orelia Gabriell Twain, who recently became the wife of the Russian painter.

At Elmira brief services will be conducted by Rev. Dr. Joseph T. Wicholl of Hartford, Conn., a lifelong friend of the humorist, and the clergyman who married him more than forty years ago.

Redding Is Grief Stricken. Redding, Conn., April 23.—The little village of Redding is in mourning for its benefactor and friend, Mark Twain, who had endeared himself by his kindly good nature and generosity, and when the body was taken to the station and placed on the train which took it to New York all business was suspended and the villagers and farmers from the surrounding hills assembled and paid their tributes to the dead.

There has not been such a gathering in the village since Mr. Clemens gave his benefit for the library, to which he recently gave money for a new building.

Library Stands as Memorial. The free public library which the literary colony here is building will stand as a permanent monument of the town's most distinguished citizen. The building is to be known as the "Mark Twain Memorial Library."

One of Mr. Clemens' last acts was to draw a check for $5,000 as his contribution toward the building fund.

Business to Cease at Hannibal. Hannibal, Mo., April 23.—All business houses and city offices will be closed on the day of Mark Twain's funeral and memorial services will be held at the same hour as the services in the east.

Roosevelt Expresses Sorrow. Paris, April 23.—Former President Roosevelt was pained to hear of the death of Mark Twain. He said: "It is with sincere grief that I learned of the death of this great American author. His position, like that of Joel Chandler Harris, was unique, not only in American letters, but in the literature of the world. He was not only a great humorist, but a great philosopher, and his writings form one of the assets in American contributions to the world of achievement of which we have a right as a nation to be genuinely proud."

Corporation Tax $15,000,000. Washington, April 23.—Corporation tax assessments up to date amount to $15,052,156. Only $152,947 has been paid into the treasury on account of the tax. Corporations have until June 30 to pay up.

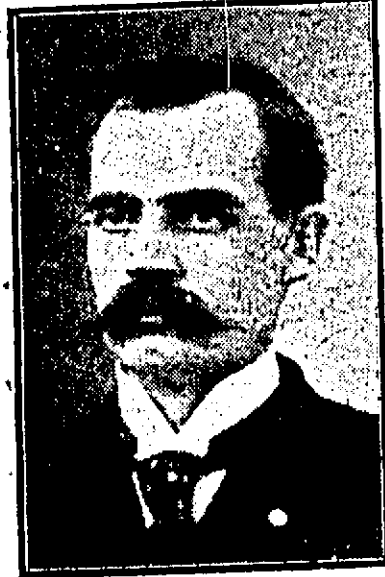

Dentist Escapes Gallows. Rocky Mount, Va., April 23.—After ten minutes' deliberation the jury returned a verdict of not guilty in the case of Dr. J. S. Cahill, the wealthy dentist, who was charged with the murder of Robert Smithers.

Catchings of Commercial Value. The fur trade of the world makes use yearly of more than 1,000,000 cat skins.

Chiropractic Surely Saves Lives--Ailments of All Kinds Banish Before This the Greatest of All Sciences

John D. Rockefeller Offered Millions to Any One Who Could Restore to Him a Good Stomach for the Disordered One That Has Caused Him so Much Suffering. Chiropractic Could Have Done the Work and It Would Not Have Cost Mr. Rockefeller Anywhere Near the Million that he Offered. His Family Would Now Be Enjoying the Companionship of A Father and Husband Happy in the Glowing Sunshine of Health Rather Than the Pensive, Irritable Disposition He Now Has as a Result of His Deceitful Condition and Suffering.

The best thing in the world is perfect health. It's better than riches. It's the most important part of happiness, and there is only one way to be in perfect health—viz. Drive disease from the body by removing the cause of the disease. The old methods of treating the symptoms with drugs and poisons are not a success. With all the science of medicine and surgery we have more sickness today than ever before. The wise ones read the hand writing on the wall. The message is plain—Don't trust to guesswork and old time foggy ideas. If you are sick, come to the Chiropractor and be made well.

Some terrible disease may be taking hold of you right now and you will realize that it is cheaper to be made well than to be sick and probably die.

John D. Rockefeller might today be enjoying the good health that would bring joy to his loved ones and that would make him an active potent factor in the financial world and the affairs of the Standard Oil Co., which he founded, had he sought the Chiropractor at the right time. In fact it possibly is not too late yet, if Mr. Rockefeller would familiarize himself with the principles of this great science.

Thousands die each year of the same disease, and thousands of others are made well and hearty by taking Chiropractic adjustments. 98 per cent of all the sick who go to the Chiropractors are made well. Don't be prejudiced.

HERE IS THE PLACE IN THE SPINE OF JOHN D. ROCKEFELLER THAT IS CAUSING HIM ALL OF HIS STOMACH SUFFERING.

Many cases similar have been adjusted by Chiropractic. Some appear in different places and cause different ailments. But no matter what your case is—I will tell you whether or not you can be made well and no charge is made for examination.

Not long after John D. Rockefeller came into prominence as a result of the greatest financial organization of the age, The Standard Oil Co., it was discovered by himself and family that his stomach had gone back on him. Many have discovered this just as did John D., when everything that they eat don't agree with them and they lay awake nights as a result of something they eat.

Then began the greatest battle that John D. ever fought and he instituted the most vigilant search of his career. It was his life that was at stake.

All of the skilled medical aid of the country came forward and offered their skill and knowledge but medical science failed and so has everything else that John D. has tried and he was forced to retire from the vast business interests that he had built up and put it in the hands of someone else.

The only great science that John D. has never tried and the only science that will permanently relieve him is Chiropractic. This science will correct the original cause of all of his suffering and that is the only way that John D. Rockefeller can ever regain the health that will make him and his loved ones happy again.

A recent meeting of the Associated Public Healths Managing Physicians, Dr. Ross, Sanit. Hospital, Buffalo, N. Y., said that there were 900 per cent less drugs given than ever before and that many of the new hospitals were giving no drugs at all.

In the coming generations, a medical man will be a source of wonderment. He will be classed with the extinct species. People will say that the man who tried to cure a sick man by poisoning him with drugs was a far from the truth as people who have believed the world was square.

Scientists all over the country are producing in animals almost any disease they want by simply putting a pressure on the spine and keeping it there until it remains in that place, and then when the disease gets real bad they cure the animal by adjusting the spine to normal conditions.

Illustration No. 3.

A young man who had a bad fall and subluxation of the second cervical of the neck, shutting off the nerve forces to the brain and the result was he became violently insane.

This was adjusted and the young man became rational again. The Chiropractors find a great many cases like this one where there is a slight subluxation at this same vertebra that causes people to become nutcases on any one subject but if they are not disturbed they will go along for a life time without doing any harm to anyone or any particular good, but if they are disturbed as in the case of Harry Thaw, when he was disturbed by White, actions which antagonized the peripheral end of the nerves running down his neck irritating the muscles of the neck causing a muscular contraction of the neck putting a greater pressure on the main nerve to the brain, causing him to lose control of his mind and leaving him with nothing but arrest and his brain. But after his arrest and laying in his cell a few days and being satisfied of the fact that he had gotten his revenge then the irritation of the nerves ceased and the muscles of the neck relaxed and he will never be normal until he has this vertebra adjusted. And if this vertebra had been normal nothing would have caused him to murder White.

CATARRH AND DEAFNESS.

Illustration No. 4.

A young man was deaf and suffered with catarrh for many years. He was adjusted and the vertebra of the neck freed the nerves to ears and head, and who is now free from catarrh and deafness.

Illustration No. 5.

A boy with a bad case of tonsillitis was brought to my office and on examination I found fourth cervical vertebra of the neck subluxated and three adjustments removed the cause of his trouble and he is a well boy today.

It is a very easy matter to overcome these simple diseases, yet many children are allowed to get into very critical conditions. It simply proves the superiority of the Chiropractic science.

Illustration No. 6.

A case of a lady with a bad cough and bronchitis caused by a subluxation of the 6th cervical vertebra pressing the nerves ramifying the bronchial tubes and causing severe coughing spells. This was readily overcome by adjusting the vertebra to normal position. Similar cases are of frequent occurrence and I have made many people well who were affected by the same trouble.

Illustration No. 7.

Shows the 7th vertebra of the neck out of place. A case in point is that of a man who had paralysis on one side, and the heart was weak, caused by the dislocated vertebra pressing on the nerves leading to the brain and shutting off the nervous energy. By adjusting the vertebra, the normal condition was restored and the man was made well.

Illustration No. 8.

We have a great many of these cases, and 98 per cent were made well.

Illustration No. 9.

Consumption in a young man. The Case 9. Consumption in a young lady. The second and third dorsal vertebrae were found in a lateral subluxation, throwing a pressure on the nerves that ramify the lungs, causing the congestion of the lungs which threw the patient into consumption. By replacing the vertebra and removing the pressure from these nerves it gives nature a chance to restore perfect health.

Illustration No. 10.

We have had a large per cent of these cases, and all were either made well or much benefited.

Consumption is not contagious, as very many people associate with these cases daily, and yet are no more liable to contract this disease than men engaged in other occupations.

Bronchitis is started with a cold or catarrhal condition of the head, the discharge therefrom running down the bronchial tubes which irritates the nerves and causing contraction of the muscles which produces a subluxation of the first and second dorsal vertebra. The result is bronchitis. By replacing these dorsal vertebrae I restore the normal condition and the disease disappears immediately.

Eye Diseases.

Illustration No. 10.

Lady blind most of time for 5 years; tumor on one side of eye balls. The vertebra of the first and second cervical were shut off the nerves leading to eyes. She suffered intensely. These vertebrae were adjusted to normal position and she regained her sight and became well.

Cases of eye diseases of various kinds are brought to me. All have been made well when adjustments were taken. We find that pressure on the nerves leading to different parts of the eye causes the different diseases; so the dislocation is not always at the same place in spine.

DISEASES OF STOMACH

Illustration No. 11.

A nationally known man suffered with dyspepsia and indigestion for many years. Adjusted the vertebra of the spine at 6th, 8th and 7th dorsal vertebrae, restoring the nervous energy to the stomach, and he can now eat any kind of food without trouble.

Illustration No. 12.

A prominent business man found he had a weak heart and that the beats were not regular. He said out his business was expected to retire. He finally called on a Chiropractor Found 2nd and 4th dorsal vertebrae subluxated. By replacing vertebrae removed the pressure from heart nerves which restored it to normal, and the man was made well immediately. This man went back into active business.

DISEASES OF HEART.

Illustration No. 13.

We have a great many cases of weak heart, and usually we are compelled to remove some other lesion where there is a congestion, to lighten the work of the heart.

BILLIUSNESS, ENLARGED LIVER AND MALARIA.

Illustration No. 14.

A necessary plumber had enlargement of the liver from a contracted fever of malarial. Several attempts were all ways failed. When examined by the Chiropractor the cause of the disease was immediately located. This case was entirely overcome by adjusting spine at 7th, 8th and 9th dorsal vertebrae, thus loosening the nerves to liver, forcing new energy.

Illustration No. 15.

In billiuness the liver is often overworked by eating more food than needed, and then when it can supply no more, it is forced into activity by laxatives, until the trouble ends in chronic constipation. These people can all become well by Chiropractic Adjustment, freeing nerves to liver and bowels. I have more of these cases than any other kind. It takes considerable time when case is chronic, but can always be successfully handled. If laxatives are continued or stimulants it will end in stroke or paralysis.

KIDNEY TROUBLE AND BRIGHT'S DISEASES.

Illustration No. 16.

A middle aged man had a severe case of Bright's disease. His limbs were swollen and soon were breaking out. He had been given up as incurable and fully expected to die. However, he was called in a Chiropractor. Spine was adjusted at 11th and 12th dorsal vertebrae and 4th and 5th lumbar and freeing the nerves to hips and the cure was soon obtained, another success for the great new science of Chiropractic.

Illustration No. 17.

I have many of these cases, and the dislocations all about the same. Most of these cases are brought on by overwork, heavy lifting, a fall or insufficient amount of rest.

Illustration No. 18.

One nationally prominent lady who has witnessed many cases of misplacement and other female troubles during successful adjustments at the Chiropractic college, said: "If you have discovered nothing more than this way of curing diseases without surgical operations, you do more to bless suffering women than anyone who ever lived."

Illustration No. 19.

I usually find a subluxation at the fourth and fifth lumbar vertebrae, also sixth and seventh dorsal, causing prolapsus and misplacements. These are all corrected even when adhesions have formed. Tumors are easily reduced and growth stopped. This kind constitutes the largest percentage of our cases.

CONSTIPATION.

Illustration No. 20.

Chronic constipation is a very common ailment and it is a great deal more serious than most people imagine. Everybody should have a good full bowel movement daily. This is necessary in order that the waste matter may be carried out of the body. If it is not carried out of the body it gradually re-decomposes forming poisons. The remedy is easily found by the Chiropractor, by examining the spine at the point where the nerves to the bowels branch off. Usually dislocations are found which shut off the nervous energy. Adjust the spine so as to allow the nerves to act properly and the bowels become normal. This is common sense. Yet the doctors invariably give poisons to act on the bowels to make the bowels act. This weakens the bowels and once you begin taking poisons to stimulate the bowels you will find that you will require more and more. This does not remove the cause at all and leaves you worse off than ever. I remove the cause of constipation by Chiropractic adjustments which allows the nerves to perform their functions. Just a few adjustments will overcome severe cases of constipation and will also remove poisons.

RHEUMATISM.

Whenever there is a displacement causing a pressure on a nerve of any part of the body, rheumatism is the result in a great many cases, and by the replacement of the vertebra your rheumatism disappears. I have never seen a case of rheumatism that could not be made well. If patient takes Chiropractic Adjustment.

ASTHMA.

There is not a disease known but what a greater per cent of them can be overcome by Chiropractic Adjustment than by any other method. Talk with those who have tried it. Come and talk with me. I remove the cause and the sick get well. If you are suffering in any way come now for adjustment. Don't put it off until it is too late. The science of Chiropractic has worked marvelous wonders. It is an old truth learned in a new school. Read this letter. It tells a strong story of heart-felt thanks.

APPENDICITIS.

Illustration No. 15. A manager of a large corporation was made well by removing the dislocation of 2nd and 3rd lumbar, see illustration. The pressure on the appendix nerves, thus restoring normal conditions which means perfect health. Hundreds of cases of appendicitis, many of them so bad that operation was demanded, have all been made well by the Chiropractic Adjustment by removing these conditions of spine without any operation. I have never seen a case requiring operation; as the healing will take place by removing the trouble at spine.

haunted every effort to defeat justice in dealing with injured employees and lends color to the statement that "corporations have no souls."

It is not surprising that congress is besieged with petitions urging the passage of an employers' liability law to deal with this class of cases.

It is gratifying to know that one of the large corporations, the United States Steel Co., has anticipated the law, by coming out with a statement, one day last week, to the effect that in future no injured employee need hire an attorney for the company would settle individual cases on their merit.

This is both humane and just and if the same policy were adopted by all large corporations there would be no need of compulsory laws to deal with the question.

A suit for damages, especially against a railroad, always elicits public sympathy, and the amount of damage claimed is usually unreasonable because the attorneys interested work on a commission basis.

A voluntary settlement meets with popular endorsement and cuts out the exorbitant fee for which these cases are noted. As a result the corporation wins public favor, and the victim receives all the money paid out.

The trend of events, in the industrial world, as the first of May approaches, presents a hopeful outlook for the year. The Philadelphia strike is settled, railroad differences are in the hands of arbitrators, and a peaceful and satisfactory adjustment will follow.

So, all along the line, there is a disposition to give and take. The people of Germany are having a different experience just now and prolonged enforced idleness seems certain.

Labor unions are very strong in Germany and the manufacturers have at last weariied of detestation and taken matters into their own hands by returning to the piece system and making some other demands equally obnoxious.

The men were not given an opportunity to strike, as a general lockout was ordered, and today many of the large industries of the empire are closed indefinitely.

More or less disturbance and unrest exists throughout the old world and the man who has his home on American soil has occasion to thank God for a foothold in the best land under the sun.

The goddess of liberty, which stands in the New York harbor, in the gateway to this promising land, continues to welcome the strangers as they swarm the docks, ticketed and labeled for their destination.

And so while congress and legislation are passing laws for better government, and captains of industry are encouraging human policies, the people from every land are coming to us by the thousands every day to share the benefits and enjoy the privileges.

America is not only the most popular land in the world, but she has also produced the most popular man living today, for ex-President Theodore Roosevelt commands the homage and respect of the people of every nation.

He emerges, after a year of retirement in the jungles of Africa, to occupy the center of the stage in the world's great arena, and the little rabbit of a Pope fails to make a dent in his popularity.

Wall street and the business men of New York clearly into the man, and the near stationmen throughout the country are jealous of him, but every last man admires him, and is proud of him as an American citizen.

"What will he say?" and "What will he do?" when he comes home, are common questions heard a dozen times a day. "The money spent by enterprising papers to find out in advance, has been money wasted, for he maintains a discreet silence."

It is safe to gamble on two or three propositions, and one is that he will neither discredit Taft, nor his administration. It is also reasonably certain that he will have no time for the insurgents and disloyalty.

When he selected Taft to succeed him, he had confidence in the man and his ability. He knew him then as well as he knows him today and his confidence is not weakened.

He invited much of the trouble which has come to Taft during the first year of his administration, but he is not in sympathy with the aggression which is attempting to undo him, as will be discovered in the near future.

The statement was made, during the Taft campaign, that it would take the new president four years to clean up his desk. His predecessor had blazed the trail so far in advance that time would be required to establish a highway.

Much has been accomplished the first year, but the unrest of an impatient constituency, influenced by a more restless press has discredited the work accomplished, and the president, with his splendid record of achievement, is freely criticized by the disloyal element of his party.

The nation is threatened with political revolution. The democratic party has long been demoralized by open recognition, and the republican party is in the throes of an upheaval which is already causing disaster.

With Hale and Aldrich out of the senate, the old guard will soon be a thing of the past, and the house is already in the hands of the insurgents and democrats.

The doctrine of the independent voter has been so thoroughly exploited that party ties are no longer considered sacred and the spirit of socialism pervades the land as never before.

It is not surprising that Milwaukee elected a socialist administration for that was the only party with an organization worthy of the name, and the people have not yet discovered that well organized parties are vital to the welfare of the nation.

These are the conditions which will confront ex-President Roosevelt on his return, and he is too good a republican not to recognize the significance. The insurgents will soon discover that he has no sympathy with disloyalty. His influence will be with Taft and the administration in efforts to save the party from complete demoralization.

COL. ROOSEVELT SPEAKS IN PARIS

Addresses Distinguished Audience at Ancient University.

"CITIZENSHIP" HIS SUBJECT

Tells Students and Professors of Duty of France as Nation and Themselves as Individuals to the World—Reads Them Lecture on Sterility.

Paris, April 23.—Ex-President Roosevelt today lectured before an audience at the Sorbonne, that comprised the greatest gathering of the intellect and learning of France that has gathered at this ancient educational seat in more than a century, if ever before. Long before the time announced for the beginning of Colonel Roosevelt's lecture every seat in the great auditorium was filled, and thousands lined the walks and streets about the university.

Foundations of Our Republic.
This was the most famous university of medieval Europe at a time when no one dreamed that there was a new world to discover. Its services to the cause of human knowledge already stretched far back in the remote past at the time when my forefathers, three centuries ago, were among the sparse bands of traders, pioneers, wood choppers, and fisherfolk who, in a hard struggle with the iron unfriendliness of the Indian-haunted land, were laying the foundations of what has now become the great republic of the west. To conquer a continent, to tame the savage roughness of wild nature means grim warfare; and the generations engaged in it cannot keep, still less add to, the stores of garnered wisdom which were therein, and which are still in the hands of their brethren who dwell in the old land. To conquer the wilderness means to wrest victory from the same hostile forces with which mankind struggled in the immortal infancy of our race. The primeval conditions must be met by primal qualities which are incompatible with the retention of much that has been painfully acquired by humanity as through the ages it has striven upward toward civilization. In conditions so primitive there can be but a primitive culture.

Building the Higher Life.
As the country grows, its people, who have won success in so many lines, turn back to try to recover the possessions of the mind and the spirit, which perforce their fathers threw aside in order better to wage the first rough battles for the continent their children inherit. The leaders of thought and of action grope their way forward to a new life, realizing, sometimes dimly, sometimes clear-sightedly, that the life of material gain, whether for a nation or an individual, is of value only as a foundation, only as there is added to it the uplift that comes from devotion to loftier ideals. The new life thus sought can in part be developed afresh from what is found about in the new world; but it can be developed in full only by freely drawing upon the treasure houses of the old world, upon the treasures stored in the ancient abodes of wisdom and learning, such as this where I speak today.

It is a mistake for any nation merely to copy another; but it is an even greater mistake, it is a proof of weakness in any nation, not to be anxious to learn from another, and willing and able to adapt that learning to the new national conditions and make it fruitful and productive therein. It is for us of the new world to sit at the feet of the ancients of the old; then if we have the right stuff in us, we can show that Paul, in his turn, can become a teacher as well as a scholar.

Today, I shall speak to you on the subject of individual citizenship, the one subject of vital importance to you, my hearers, and to me and my countrymen, because you and we are citizens of great democratic republics. A democratic republic, such as each of ours—an effort to realize in its full sense government by, of, and for the people—represents the most gigantic of all possible social experiments, the one fraught with greatest possibilities alike for good and for evil.

Great Lessons of France.
France has taught many lessons to other nations; surely one of the most important is the lesson her whole history teaches, that a high artistic and literary development is compatible with notable leadership in arms and statecraft. The brilliant gallantry of the French soldier has for many centuries been proverbial, and during these same centuries at every court in Europe the "free masons of fashion" have treated the French tongue as their common speech; while every artist and man of letters, and every man of science able to appreciate that marvelous instrument of precision, French prose, has turned towards France for aid and inspiration. How long the leadership in arms and letters has lasted is curiously illustrated by the fact that the earliest masterpiece in modern tongue is the splendid French epic which tells of Roland's doom and the vengeance of Charlemagne when the lords of the Frankish host were stricken at Roncesvalles.

Need of Individual Character.
Let those who have, keep, let those who have not, strive to attain a high standard of cultivation and scholarship. Yet let us remember that these stand second to certain other things. There is need of a sound body, and even more need of a sound mind. But above mind and above body stands character, the sum of those qualities which we mean when we speak of a man's force and courage, of his good faith and sense of honor, of his belief in the value of the body, always provided that we keep in mind that physical development is a means and not an end, I believe, of course, in giving to all the people a good education. But the education must contain much besides book-learning in order to be really good. We must ever remember that no keenness, and subtleness of intellect, no polish, no cleverness in any way make up of the lack of great solid qualities—self-restraint, self-mastery, common sense, the power of accepting individual responsibility and yet, of acting in conjunction with others. Courage and resolution; these are the qualities which mark a masterful people. Without these no people can control itself or save itself from being controlled from the outside. I speak to a brilliant assemblage; I speak in a great university which represents the flower of the highest intellectual development; I pay all homage to intellect, and to elaborate and specialized training of the intellect; and yet I know I shall have the assent of all you present when I add that more important still are the commonplace, every-day qualities and virtues.

The Value of Sterility.
In the next place the good man should be both a strong and a brave man; that is, he should be able to fight, he should be able to serve his country as a soldier if the need arises. There are well-meaning philosophers who declaim against the unrighteousness of war. They are right, only they lay all their emphasis upon the unrighteousness. War is a dreadful thing, and unjust; war is a crime against humanity. But it is such a crime because it is unjust, not because it is war. The choice must ever be in favor of righteousness, and this whether the alternative be peace or whether the alternative be war. The question must not be merely, is there to be peace or war? The question must be, is the right to prevail? Are the great laws of righteousness more to be fulfilled? And the answer from a strong and virtuous people must be, "Yes," whatever the cost. Every honorable effort should always be made by the individual in private life to keep out of a brawl, to keep out of trouble, but no self-respecting individual, no self-respecting nation, can or ought to submit to wrong.

Finally, even more important than ability to work, even more important than ability to fight, at need, is it to remember that the chief of blessings for any nation is that it shall leave its seed to inherit the land. It was the crown of blessings in biblical times, and it is the crown of blessings now. The greatest of all curses is the curse of sterility, and the severest of all condemnations should be that visited upon willful sterility. The first essential in any civilization is that the man and the woman shall be father and mother of healthy children, so that the race shall increase and not decrease. If this is not so, if through no fault of society there is failure to increase, it is a great misfortune. If the failure is due to deliberate and willful fault, then it is not merely a misfortune, it is one of those crimes of ease and self-indulgence, of shrinking from pain and effort and risk, which in the long run nature punishes more heavily than any other.

Idle Achievements.
If we of the great republics, if we, the free people who claim to have emancipated ourselves from the thrall of wrong and error, bring down on our heads the curse that comes upon the willfully barren, then it will be an idle waste of breath to prattle of our achievements, to boast of all that we have done. No refinement of life, no delicacy of taste, no material progress, no noddish heaping up of riches, no sensuous development of art and literature, can in any way compensate for the loss of the great fundamental virtues; and of the great fundamental virtues, the greatest is the race's power to perpetuate the race.

But if a man's efficiency is not guided and regulated by a moral sense, then the more efficient he is the worse he is, the more dangerous to the body politic. Courage, intellect, all the material qualities, serve but to make a man more evil if they are used merely for that man's own advancement, with brutal indifference to the rights of others. It speaks ill for the community if the community worships these qualities and treats their possessors as heroes regardless of whether the qualities are used rightly or wrongly. It makes no difference as to the precise way in which this sinister efficiency is shown. It makes no difference whether such a man's force and ability betray themselves in the career of money maker or politician, soldier or orator, journalist or popular leader. If the man works for evil, then the more successful he is, the more he should be despised and condemned by all upright and far-seeing men. To judge a man merely by success is an abhorrent wrong; and if the people at large habitually so judge men, if they grow to condone wickedness because the wicked man triumphs, they show their inability to understand that in the last analysis free institutions rest upon the character of citizenship and that by such admiration of evil they prove themselves unfit for liberty.

The Idea of True Liberty.
The good citizen will demand liberty for himself, and as a matter of pride he will see to it that others receive the liberty which he thus claims as his own. Probably the best test of true love of liberty in any country is the way in which minorities are treated in that country. Not only should there be complete liberty in matters of religion and opinion, but complete liberty for each man to lead his life as he desires, provided only that in so doing he does not wrong his neighbor. Persecution is bad because it is persecution, and without reference to which side happens at the moment to be the persecutor and which the persecuted. Class hatred is bad in just the same way, and without any regard to the individual who, at a given time, substitutes loyalty to a class for loyalty to the nation, or substitutes hatred of men because they happen to come in a certain social category, for judgment awarded them according to their conduct. Remember always that the same measure of condemnation should be extended to the arrogance which would look down upon or crush any man because he is poor, and to the envy and hatred which would destroy a man because he is wealthy. The overbearing brutality of the man of wealth or power, and the envious and hateful malice directed against wealth or power, are really at root merely different manifestations of the same quality, merely the two sides of the same shield.

The man who, if born in wealth and power, exploits and ruins his less fortunate brethren is at heart the same as the greedy and violent demagogue who exploits those who have not property to plunder those who have. Of one man in especial, beyond anyone else, the citizens of a republic should beware, and that is of the man who appeals to them to support him on the ground that he is hostile to other citizens of the republic, that he will secure for those who elect him, in one shape or another, profit at the expense of other citizens of the republic. It makes no difference whether he appeals to class hatred or class interest, to religious or anti-religious prejudice, the man who makes such an appeal should always be presumed to make it for the sake of furthering his own interest. The very thing that an intelligent and self-respecting member of a democratic community should not do is to reward any public man because that public man says he will get the private citizen something to which this private citizen is not entitled, or will gratify some emotion or animosity which this private citizen ought not to possess.

A Ranch Story.
Let me illustrate this by one anecdote from my own experience: A number of years ago I was engaged in cattle-ranching on the great plains of the western United States. There were no fences. The cattle wandered free, the ownership of each being determined by the brand; the calves were branded with the brand of the owner.

Bicycles! Bicycles! Bicycles!

Who ever heard of talking of a Bicycle in a snow storm? Well, as I am in the bicycle business I can't help but talk it, snow or no snow. But there are better days a-coming and the snow will be forgotten and the wheelmen will be as enthusiastic as ever.

This kind of weather will give everybody a chance to look over the various lines of wheels handled in town. After you have come and look over my line and I will show you the strong points that are in favor of my line and without trying to convince you. A blind man can see where I have this advantage over all other makers.

We have a better built wheel throughout for the money by $4.98 to $8.95 saved on every wheel. Also what dealer can keep your wheel in shape as well as an exclusive dealer. I am the only exclusive dealer in Bicycles, and handle Typewriters, the "Monarch," and the best line of Fishing Tackle. As I was all sold out and have no last year's goods to spring on the public, so what goods you get in my place are new goods except my second hand wheels, but after I rebuild them they are almost as good as new wheels and will outwear any cheap wheel sold.

Now, my line of Cyrus wheels, at $30.00, complete, have been the biggest sellers of anything on the market except the Buick auto or Cream of Wheat. But who would think of any bicycle man trying to compete with Wheat. Now, I am going to give you a big list of buyers, and it sounds like the fish-stories that Bill Taylor, the grocer, and Will Scrivens, the barber, tells. 'Twas a big fish that got away, that is all I can repeat, but I can repeat my list of buyers of good wheels and no big one got away at that. Ask them.

J. C. Kline, Y. M. C. A., the $40 Crown. Ask him.

Capt. Flemming, Salvation Army, with a $40 Yale.

Robert Conway, Bower City bank, tried a $40.00 Yale and sold it for more than he paid for it. Ask him. Bob is a man for money.

Mr. Lane, of the Bennisson & Lane Co., has a Yale for his boy.

Stanley Yonce has one of those Cyrus wheels, complete. 'Tis an imperial grey. His trip is never long on his Cyrus.

Frank Smith, Rock River Woolen Mills, rides a Cyrus. Can you talk German? Ask him.

And 61 others. Ask for the list. Somebody you know will tell you.

Now, if it hadn't snowed I wouldn't have had a chance to tell you this. I am glad it snowed, aren't you?

IMPORTANT TO TELEPHONE USERS

The most frequent cause of complaint in a telephone exchange has been the difficulty of getting central for a second connection immediately after the first connection has ceased.

A RECENT INVENTION has done away with all this trouble, and the Rock County Telephone Co. has just finished its installation. By this system, a subscriber WHEN RINGING OFF not only throws down a signal at central, but also flashes an electric light. This light keeps flashing just as long as the subscriber rings his bell. If the ring is steady and continued the light flashes likewise. If the ring is spasmodic the light flashes spasmodically and is certain to catch the eye of the operator.

WE WISH TO IMPRESS UPON OUR SUBSCRIBERS THE IMPORTANCE OF RINGING OFF AT THE CLOSE OF EVERY CONVERSATION. If you will do this, then central knows that you have finished and will immediately disconnect your line and be ready to give you a second connection if wanted. When you fail to ring off central is compelled to "cut in" to see if the conversation is completed.

You can have a Rock County phone in your home for $1.00 per month.

Uncle Walt THE POET PHILOSOPHER

By WALT MASON. (Copyright, 1909, by George Mathew Adams.)

"I'd like to be a doctor, and cure up human ills, and dope my friends and neighbors with gutta serena pills," remarked the hardware merchant, grown weary of his store, of all the tireless labors he'd known so oft before. "I'd like to dent in 'hard' ware," the fagged-out doctor wails, "and dish up rusty razors and bolts and boneless nails, for I am tired of going on journeys night and day, of sawing people's legs off and waiting for the pay."

"I'd like to be a banker," the downcast farmer cries, "and sit behind a railing and look profoundly wise, and watch my idleness shovel the gold into a bin, and see folks come and grovel to gain a friendly grin; I'm tired of chasing roosters and hurling geese and ducks. I want to be a banker and deal in shining bucks."

"I'd like to be a farmer," the sad-eyed banker sighs, "and raise big jack-o-lanterns and feed on pumpkin pies, I'd like to carry horses and hitch them to a cart; I'd like to jump the town and get next to nature's heart. For I am tired of money and stocks and bonds and notes, I fail would seek the farmyard and mingle with the goats."

"Oh, there are any pilgrims who don't wall and sob, no matter what his snip is, to find another job. No matter what Dame Fortune has generously sent, it always is the winter of human discontent."

I like to work for people who have had work done elsewhere. Then they are able to compare results in the way of skill, of dexterity, of carefulness, of painless effort on my part, etc.

If they say anything at all, it is sure to be to my credit in the comparison.

Often people say (something like this):

"I wish I had come to you long ago. It would have saved me an awful lot of suffering."

I had intended coming here for my last work, but was diverted.

In the future, I shall know where to come for my dentistry."

It would be the same with you.

JANESVILLE CASE AIDED DECISION

SUPREME COURT USES SMITH VERSUS JANESVILLE IN DECIDING PRIMARY CASE.

MARSHALL FILES HIS VIEWS

Differs With the Rent of the Judges and Holds Senatorial Primary Neither Legally Nor Morally Binding on Legislature.

That the case of Smith versus Janesville, found in Volume 26, page 201 of the Wisconsin Reports played an important part in the decision of the judges of the state supreme court in deciding the primary election law, said tonight by A. H. Van Alstine, in evidence by the dissenting opinion of Judge R. D. Marshall. (Read late Friday, Judge Marshall upholds the primary act because it does not prohibit conventions and does not prohibit party platforms, but holds that the Senatorial primary is neither locally nor morally binding on the legislature, and agrees with the referendum with great reluctance even on the ground of "Stare Decisis" declaring it subversive of the basic principles of our government.

The case of Smith versus Janesville, referred to in Judge Marshall's opinion was one brought by the late Stephen W. Smith in 1870 to test a state law. This particular law had a referendum clause which gave certain localities the right to vote on the question whether personal property owned by individuals were subject to taxation. Directly it referred to the taxation of National Bank stock owned by Mr. Smith which was taxed, Justice Dixon gave the opinion in the case and upheld the law.

In discussing the point whether the legislature is bound to accept the primary election as chosen for United States Senator, Judge Marshall says: "It must not be lost sight of that the United States senators are federal not state officers. The legislature of a state has no more right to change the appointing power reposed in it by the federal constitution as to the matter in question, than in respect to any other power lodged by the constitution in it exclusively."

"It has no more authority to abdicate its functions by descending from its constitutional status as a repository of federal appointing power, to the level of a mere agency to effectuate the result of a mere popular choice, as indicated by a vote of the people, than it has to provide that the justice of this court shall, in applying the law, submit to be guided by popular advice or judgment."

"If the system as stated is not the best policy, independent of fundamental limitations, it can only be legitimately changed by the power of the people of the country at large, in the exercise of their constitutional right to change the constitution. They can be no legitimate mere state interference and all ingenious contrivances to that end should fall and fail utterly."

"If a course of action which, with good motives, or bad motives, could successfully improperly interfere in one field could do so in all directions and the skill of those who might be impatient of the fundamental restraints which property applied would limit their capacity to vitiate their theories of government, it would not be found inadequate in practical effect to subvert the constitution altogether."

May Ignore Primary Election.
"The logic of the court's opinion on this last branch of the case seems unanswerable. If the primary act were construed as imposing upon members of the legislature either the legal duty or moral obligation to abide by the verdict rendered at the election, it would require judicial condemnation. It can only be supported on the theory that it is merely advisory, from the standpoint of citizen politicians as of the time holding the primary and of much or little or no significance whatever, according to circumstances."

"It might manifestly be the duty of members of the legislature belonging to a particular party to vote for some other person than the one petitioned for by members of such party who voted at the primary. He might have but a small minority support of the party though having a plurality. He might be found on investigation not to be truly representative of party principles."

"The aspect of his candidacy might entirely change. In the interim between the primary and exercise of the appointing power, so that the act of the primary under different circumstances, could not properly have any weight and the petitioner would in the new situation largely concern in the former advice being ignored as they did in giving it."

"So it is not only the right but the sworn duty of the members of the legislature to exercise their respective official judgments, giving to the result of the circumstantial preference suggested at the primary just such weight as in their wisdom may seem best, and no more."

"In that view, the party of the act under discussion is sustainable and not otherwise, and such is but elaborating the views of the court, as I understand them."

Other States Hold Differently.
Discussing that part of the complaint which alleged that the act was unconstitutional because it delegated lawmaking powers to the legislature to the people by a referendum vote, Justice Marshall says:

"I yield very reluctant concurrence with the idea that it is constitutional for the legislature to pass a general act to become a law upon its being approved by popular vote. I yield upon the ground of stare decisis only, I dissent from the view that such an act is sustainable from an original standpoint and that there is no logical distinction between a local act to become law in present, but only by operation in such localities as by popular vote adopt it, and a general act presently proposed by the legislature to be a law when approved by popular vote."

The court then at length quotes decisions in other states as opposed to the law as laid down by Wisconsin decisions, and goes on:

THREE MEN INJURED IN TRAIN WRECK ON THE NORTHWESTERN

Two Trains Crash Together in Head On Collision This Side of Fond du Lac—Janesville Man Hurt.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Fond du Lac, April 23.—Engineer M. A. Crowley of Janesville, from Stoughton, and Mail Clerk H. C. Kingsley were injured this morning at 9:30 when their train, the Fond du Lac and Janesville passenger, collided head-on with train No. 544, south bound, at Oakfield, a small station about eight miles south of Fond du Lac.

Both trains were moving slowly through the village at the time but neither engineer could see because of the heavy snow. The shock of the collision piled both engines in a heap and the mail car on No. 25 was badly damaged.

None of the passengers were injured although all were badly shaken up. Engineer Crowley suffered a laceration to his back. Fireman Burch had several ribs broken while H. C. Kingsley, who was in the damaged mail car, had his hip and shoulder bones fractured.

This is the second accident that has happened to train No. 25 in the past three days. Thursday afternoon a broken rail wrecked the train at Clyman. It was fortunately no one was injured. The same crew that were in the wreck Thursday and charged of the train today, Engineer M. A. Crowley, and Conductor J. H. Burns. Train No. 25 leaves this city for Fond du Lac daily at 4:50 a. m., while No. 544 is due to arrive here from that city at 12:35. The latter train was in charge of Conductor Fred Brown, who escaped uninjured, as did his engineer and fireman.

PANEL OF JURORS FOR TOOTSIE CASE

Drawn in Municipal Court Today—Mr. Nolan Says Garland Stove Imprint Is One Client's Forehead.

The names of eight men composed the "panel" from which, if possible, will be recruited the six-man jury to try the assault and battery cases against the four young men who are charged with breaking up the dancing party at W. C. Churchill's place in the town of Janesville on the night of April 14. The actions came up for trial in municipal court at nine o'clock Monday morning and by consent will probably be moved into a single case. Miss Manning, George Cunningham, Peter Tabbs, and William O'Donnell are the defendants and are represented by Attorney T. S. Nolan. The complainants include W. J. Hill, and Mr. and Mrs. Churchill and they have retained George G. Sutherland and O. A. Oestreicher as counsel. "Why not simplify this whole mix-up by having your clients plead guilty?" suggested Attorney Sutherland, this morning. "Plead guilty to what?" retorted Mr. Nolan with great indignation. "To accepting your hospitality and getting hit over the head with stove trimmings? You can see the letters of the complaint in one of my clients' foreheads even now!" "It is the only 'garland' he'll ever wear," was Mr. Sutherland's confident answer.

LOCAL PARAGRAPHS.

VETERAN AUTOS IN SPECTACULAR RACE

"Stub" Parker and Grover Horn Fought in Thrilling Contest One Day This Week.

One day this week, before Halley's comet moved to the North Pole 5,000 miles southward, the fire of spring was running strong in the veins of "Stub" Parker and Grover Horn who work at Pelepp Bros' garage and the unhappy notion seized them to pull off a novelty race with two old skate scoot-wagons that were then in storage. After they had mapped out a course from the garage to the Riverside hotel, thence across the bridge and up Court street to Jackson street, and thence along the city's busiest thoroughfare of commerce to the home port, Parker, in the role of "Hornet" or "Blitz", climbed aboard the "Red Devil"—an ancient Rambler—then took the steering wheel of an equally decrepit Pierce-Rueine, vintage of 1903 or thereabouts. At the very outset it was found that the "Red Devil" had so much compression that it couldn't be started with the coffee-grinder side crank, so "Louis Shovelhead" with his "Green Dragon"—pushed his bitter rival, and the wheezy "old" bus along until they were well underway. The "Red Devil" then and thereupon took the lead and was steadily forging ahead when, at the corner of South River and Pleasant streets, the steering knuckle twisted off of the "Green Dragon" and the machine veered drunkenly and ran into the Riverside hotel, the springs going through the elapsoards and all but impaling a guest who had been quietly reading the last issue of "Collier's" slouching backward saw his rival's plight and tried to turn around. In doing so he ran into a telephone pole. This stopped him for a time but he was presently towing the battered "Dragon" back to headquarters when a small of smoke suddenly smote his nostrils and glancing to the rear again, he discovered that the whole tail-end of the car was afire. The two characters found it necessary to work two days for nothing repairing the damage they had done. Where were the police? Well, the pace of the old rollers, even when "thrown wide open," was well under the speed limit.

BRUSSELS EXPO IS OPENED TO PUBLIC

Not As Pretentious As Exhibitions at Paris or St. Louis But Art Sale Is a Big Feature.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
Brussels, April 23.—The Universal and International Exposition opened in Brussels today, to continue through the coming summer and fall. While there is no pretense that it is to be conducted on the vast cosmopolitan lines of Paris or St. Louis, the exposition is the greatest and most interesting scheme of the kind yet undertaken in Belgium. It is general in scope, and all the principal European countries are represented. One of the most attractive features is the international art salon containing the largest collection of paintings from all sources ever presented in Brussels.

BRIEFEST WILL EVER FILED DISPOSES OF LARGE ESTATE

La Crosse Brewery Makes Will on Half Sheet Notes Paper.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)
La Crosse, Wis., April 23.—The briefest will ever filed for probate in this county was that of the late John La Crosse, a member of the C. & J. Michael brewing company, who disposed of an estate valued at $85,000 on half a sheet of note paper. With the exception of $3,000, bequeathed to a nephew, Carl Meier, of Rochester, Minn., the balance is equally divided among the five children of his brother, the late Charles Michael. Mr. Michael never married and made his home with his brother whose children inherit his fortune.

CLEAN-UP DAY IN LINE CITY TODAY

Instead of Carrying Out Original Plans of Women's Clubs, Sidewalks Were Shoveled.

(SPECIAL TO THE GAZETTE.)

Deloit, Wis., April 23.—This is the clean-up day arranged for by the Women's Federation of Clubs and for which Mayor Crammingham yesterday issued a proclamation. The principal work in recognition of the day was cleaning the snow from the sidewalks. There will be another day set for the cleaning up, however.

This graduation exercises of Deloit College will this year be on Tuesday, June 21, instead of on Wednesday, June 22, as was the custom for sixty years. This change in the day was brought about by the request of the alumni who can not spare so many days for the commencement exercises. Besides the speaking by the seniors there will be an address by Dr. Samuel Parkes Cadman, of Brooklyn, N. Y., Oscar Maurer, college class of 1902, pastor of the Old Center church at New Haven, Conn., will give the address before the Christian Association on the Sunday of commencement week. Mr. Maurer is just now in the public eye from the fact that his new church has adopted a new confession of faith which has attracted considerable comment throughout the country. The church which has held strictly to puritan orthodoxy since its organization in 1833, will require informal expression as to the divinity of Christ. All that will be required of new members is a belief in a high life and a pledge to moral purity. The church wishes to gather to itself members who have been debarred by slight theological scruples. Disturbed by smoke in the Merrill school yesterday afternoon, Fire Chief Syggen was contacted with and drove out and made an investigation. Some work was in a cement cold air duct had been taken but could have done no damage. While hunting for the fire, the chief, the principal gave the fire alarm and the school was dismissed in the form. The advantage of the fire drill was shown in the exit for there was perfect order.

STARTS CAMPAIGN FOR LA FOLLETTE

torney general, and Frank T. Tucker of Neillsville, second assistant in the same office, are announced, although neither had as yet given out a platform. Right now the Superior man has an apparent head start but the race will be a merry one. Attorney General Gilbert would doubtless be accorded a third term, but he has entered the congressional race as an opponent to the re-election of Congressman John M. Nelson, incumbent in the second or Madison district.

For lieutenant governor, State Senator Thomas Morris of La Crosse is the sole and only aspirant, and is likely to remain so.

Gubernatorial Race.

The six candidates for the gubernatorial nomination are plugging away, the last development in the situation being a sense of the great importance which the county option law is to be in the campaign. Two of the six candidates are put with declarations in favor of a county option law. They are Captain W. M. Lewis of Racine, millionaire automobile maker and financial supporter of Senator La Follette, and State Senator Harry W. Barker of Sparta. He also is a La Follette supporter in the legislature, and it is daily appearing that they will get a large number of votes in the western and southern parts of the state, and that their vote will come pretty largely from the La Follette side, and may eliminate F. E. McGovern of Milwaukee as a leading candidate. It appears that notwithstanding the fact that Lewis came out in response to a request from La Follette by C. C. Clittings of Racine as messenger, McGovern is the man whose nomination and election as governor is really desired by La Follette. John Strange of Neillsville whose nomination and election as lieutenant governor two years ago was accomplished largely by the La Follette people, will also get many La Follette faction votes, and so the following of the senator is divided as to the governorship worse than was all that. Unless the friends of Governor James O. Davidson prevail upon him to be a candidate for another term, the anti-La Follette, pro-Taft, and anti-county option republicans of the state will vote solidly for the nomination of State Senator E. T. Fairchild of Milwaukee, who has announced his candidacy on an out-and-out regular republican and anti-county-option platform. So divided are the La Follette people with four candidates in the field, that it seems that the opposition can easily afford to get up a little scrap among themselves and so Governor Davidson is still being pressed to put aside his personal inclinations toward retirement and stand for the nomination again. He returned early in the week from a trout fishing trip to Waubesa county, and is now in Milwaukee, and everywhere his friends plead with him to be a candidate. Right now the chances seem to be against his running, in which case the one best bet of the situation is that Senator Fairchild will be the next republican nominee for governor of Wisconsin.

Democrat's Plans.

As usual at this season of the year the democrats are full of hope arising from the controversy in the republican ranks. They have determined to hold a state convention in Milwaukee in June, for the formulation of a platform and possibly to nominate a ticket to be ratified in the primary election. H. H. Munson of Wausau, chairman of the state central committee, has retired and been succeeded by J. E. Davies of Madison, law partner of J. A. Aylward, who was the democratic gubernatorial nominee two years ago. Mr. Davies is a rich young attorney, having married a daughter of the late Col. J. J. Knight of Ashland.

Work of Socialists.

The social democrats in power in Milwaukee are already "doing business," having started in by increasing the hours of city hall clerks from six to eight hours a day. Mayor Emil Soldel accompanied this order by a declaration that "clean-collared clerks in comfortable seats in the city hall are able to work as many hours a day as the hard laborers in the factories." Another new thing is the act of the socialists in placing in the office of city physician and health officer a man who is announced to be "an incumbent only" and who will not draw any salary. His appointment was made only to formally "fill the office" so that the previous official, Dr. A. C. Harding, might not, as a former official did on a similar state of facts, continue to draw the salary "until his successor be elected and qualified." The exportation of socialistic notions of the affairs of a large city is being watched by the entire country. Many predict that the socialists, hungry for office, will fight among themselves and be retired from office after the first term. The socialists' leaders declare they recognize some danger of this, but say such predictions will not be fulfilled.

La Follette's Scheme.

La Follette people have been heard to complain that the republican national congressional campaign committee will not give aid and support to insurgent members of the senate and house who seek re-election. As a means of overcoming this obstacle, Senator La Follette has evolved a plan to "exchange pulpits" between himself and insurgents of other states. Senator Dooliver and Cummings of Iowa, Beveridge of Indiana and others will help La Follette in his fight in this state and the badge senator will return the favor by making campaign speeches in the other states.

The Unique Rat.

From letters received it would seem possible to make out quite a case for the rat. Not only has he served as food—Dr. Kane on his polar expedition attributed his comparative immunity to scurvy to the soup made from the rats his servant shot with a bow and arrow—but Mr. Frank Buckland has suggested that their skins are eminently suitable for glove-making. At any rate, rat skins have sometimes been used as clothing, for we read of a lady at Glasgow who had a pair of shoes of rat skins, which were as soft as the finest kid, while by way of a freak a complete suit of rat skin was once made by a Cornish miner.

cows they followed. It, on the other hand, an animal was passed by, the following year it would appear as an unbranded yearling and was then called a maverick. By the custom of the country these mavericks were branded with the brand of the man on whose range they were found. One day I was riding the range with a newly hired cowboy, and we came upon a maverick.

I said to him: "It is so-and-so's brand," naming the man on whose range we happened to be.

He answered: "That's all right, boss, I know my business."

In another moment I said to him: "Hold, on, you are putting on my brand."

To this he answered: "That's all right; I always put on the boss' brand."

I answered: "Oh, very well. Now you go straight back to the ranch and get what is owing to you. I don't need you any longer."

He jumped up and said: "Why, what's the matter? I was putting on your brand."

And I answered: "Yes, my friend, and if you will steal for me you will steal from me."

Now the same principle which applies in private life applies also in public life. If a public man tries to get your vote by saying that he will do something wrong in your interest, you can be absolutely certain that if ever it becomes worth his while he will do something wrong against your interest.

France and the United States.

And now, my host, a word in parting. You and I belong to the only two great republics among the great powers of the world. The ancient friendship between France and the United States has been, on the whole, a sincere and disinterested friendship. A calamity to you would be a sorrow to us. But it would be more than that. In the seething turmoil of the history of humanity certain nations stand out as possessing a peculiar power or charm, some special gift of beauty or wisdom or strength, which puts them among the immortal, which makes them rank forever with the leaders of mankind. France is one of the nations. For her to sink would be a loss to all the world. There are certain lessons of brilliance and of generous gallantry that she can teach better than any of her sister nations. When the French penantry sang of Malbrock it was to tell how the soul of this warrior-fox took flight upward through the laurels he had won. Nearly seven centuries ago Professor, writing of a time of dire disaster, said that the realm of France was never so stricken, that there were not left men who would valiantly fight for it. You have had a great past. I believe that you will have a great future. Long may you carry yourselves proudly as citizens of a nation which bears a leading part in the teaching and uplifting of mankind.

CHI-NAMEL

Grains, Stains, Varnishes

Last week we had a very successful demonstration of the various uses of Chi-Namel. Many people attended this demonstration, taking home with them a free sample of Chi-Namel with instructions as how to use it, from the demonstrator. In most every instance they returned highly pleased with results and bought a can.

Chi-Namel can be used for Floors, Chairs, Tables, Doors, Casings, Wainscotings, etc.

Completely covers and hides all blemishes in the old finish.

Process so simple any child can operate it. Cost, 2c a square foot.

Gives dirt stained floors the hardwood effect. Any color, any grain, any width of board and closes all cracks.

Produces a finish more durable than ordinarily found on expensive hard wood furniture or floors.

Can be washed with hot water without injury.

Hammer-proof, heel-proof, scratch-proof, water-proof.

OUR HOBBY

Quality, Quality

We would like to talk piano to you. We would like to explain why it pays to own a good piano. We would like to demonstrate our cheapest grade and convince you that it is distinctly a piano of quality, a piano of fine tone and action qualities, inexpensive in construction only as a piece of furniture. We would like to point out to you many accomplished musicians right here in Janesville who have developed all their skill and musical education on one of these very instruments.

Pianos of Quality

Quality, Quality

This hobby of ours is your protection in buying a piano. It forbids our carrying unreliable shoddy new instruments or palming off worn-out old ones as "good enough for a beginner." It insures the purchaser full value in any piano purchased of us whether new or used.

WE WOULD LIKE TO TELL YOU HOW EASILY YOU CAN OWN ONE OF THESE PIANOS OF QUALITY—JUST LIKE THE SAVINGS BANK PLAN.

That child will never develop musical ability without a good piano. See us about it now who have no decided profession or trade, but who are working first at one thing then another, are not making the most of your opportunity. You are not making the biggest salaries and you are not laying a foundation for a PERMANENT success. Making good money now, for the time being, is all right for NOW—BUT HOW ARE YOU GOING TO MAKE YOUR FORTUNE?

HERE IS A FACT.

The business man of today is making more money than the doctor, the lawyer, the teacher, the mechanic or any professional man or men of the trades. If you want to find success easiest get into business.

HERE IS HOW.

Take up Shorthand and Typewriting. You can learn it in a few months. We will place you in an office at a good salary. WE PLACE EVERY GRADUATE OR REFUND TUITION. We cannot half supply the demand for young men stenographers. The business man wants young men to come into his office, write his letters for him, learn his business for him so that he can run the business, or help run the business. No one man can run a big business. Every business must have department heads, assistant managers, chief clerks, salesmen, etc. Chicago, Milwaukee, Minneapolis, St. Paul, all the big cities, are asking for young men stenographers and the smaller cities too. The average salary of stenographers placed last year in Chicago was $14.81 per week and $64.18 per month. Remember this was for BEGINNERS. If you are interested in bettering your conditions, in getting started in the RIGHT WAY, come and talk it over with me. Let me tell you how dozens of young men who have graduated HERE are succeeding. We have an interesting little booklet we send free on request. Drop me a postal or phone me. It's free.

FORTY YEARS AGO

Janesville Daily Gazette, April 23, 1870.—Jattings.—The big blast at Chapin's quarry came off this afternoon promptly on time. One hundred pounds of powder were poured into the hole, sand was put on top of that, the fuse adjusted, the match applied to it, and then such a lively going out of danger by those employed about the work. On the bluff, at a safe distance, quite a number of spectators had gathered to witness the explosion. With eyes intently fixed on the rock toward which the fire was creeping, slowly but surely to the powder in its heart, they waited to see the effect which the explosion would produce. "Soon it came—a dull, heavy thud, pieces of rock flying out spitefully, a little smoke issuing from the crevices in the rock and the work is done. Pick and bars will now disintegrate the rock, and render it useful for building purposes. The blast was well done.

Rises are now plentiful in this market at eleven cents per dozen as the buying price.

Never Seen Own Discoveries. "Dr. Max Wolf" of Heidelberg, to whom astronomy owes the discovery, by the aid of photography, of 30 new asteroids, has himself never seen a single one of these little planets. He has only looked upon the images of the stars discovered by him, leaving to other "searchers of the sky" the pleasure of viewing them through telescopes.

Odd Bequests in Wills. A lady recently left $1,000 a year for the comfort of her parrot. Far more extraordinary was the bequest of an Ohio gentleman, who left money for a cat infirmary or sanitarium, which was to have rat holes for sport and ample grounds for exercise. The same testator, wishing to give some consolation to the feline race, whom he supposed to supply the material named catnip, left directions for his intestines to be made into fiddle strings, and those to be sold, the proceeds to be used for the purchase of an accordion which one of the nurses at this cat infirmary was to play continually for the debilitation of the cats.

Value of Praline. Praline is sunshine; it warms, it inspires, it promotes growth; blame and rebuke are rain and hail; they beat down and begrudge, even though they may at times be necessary.—Harriet Beecher Stowe.

What We Have Done. When the hour of death comes—then it comes to high and low alike—then it is not what we have done for ourselves, but what we have done for others, that we think on most pleasantly.—Sir Walter Scott.

Mother Goose's May Baskets

LAST night when the nursery clock struck twelve, bringing in the first day of May with slow, solemn strokes, something came, kerflop against the window.

"Whoa, there, Gooseplane!" The Ticklemouse, not at all disturbed by the shakeup, slid lightly off and lifted the window, leaving his feathered airship outside. When his gentle tickling woke the twins they saw a big market basket on his arm, filled with tiny baskets of all shapes and colors.

"Davy and Dorfy were overjoyed to find the gray goose hatched outside. "To your mother's palace!" cried the Mouse when they had mounted, and swift as the wind they shot southward. Soon the night air grew warmer, and the stillness was broken by a honk-honking sound as of many automobiles. "Honk, honk!" answered their steed, stretching out his long gray neck and flying still faster.

"My, what a lot of geese, and how funny they look, all dressed up!" Davy said, as they slowed down near a queer little town.

"The Ticklemouse did not answer. He was looking through his field glasses at the palace on the hill. From the balcony a little old woman with a pet duck on each shoulder was waving her handkerchief at her visitors.

"Here we are, Mother, at your service!" said the Mouse with a bow, alighting on the striped balustrade.

"Welcome, Mouse brother!" cried the little dame in a high, cracked voice. "These are the famous Sleepyland Twins, I suppose? Children dear, I'm glad you're here—even if you did tear my shoe!" she added, looking sharply at Davy.

"The little boy looked puzzled. "Well, she went on, "if you'll look on page 57 you'll see what I mean. You may not think it matters how carelessly you turn the pages of your Mother Goose, but if you had to stand the damage you'd look sharp!" She showed him her torn shoe—Davy remembered that torn page, and hung his head.

Mother Goose kissed him with a bright little smile. "There, now, never mind; boys will be boys. Only don't forget, when you handle your picture books, that every careless jerk may cost some Goose-land child very dear. What's in the basket, Mouse brother?"

"May Baskets," answered the Ticklemouse. "And if you'll give us our passes, Mother, we'll be off and begin hanging them while the night is young."

Leaving their steed to wander about the palace grounds, they set off down the street. They stopped outside a lonely house, lighted by a solitary candle in the window. Inside some one was groaning.

The Ticklemouse felt around in the market basket and took out a cone-shaped parcel. "Beware of cold plum-porridge!" he wrote on it, and hanging it on the knob, rang the doorbell sharply and scuttled back to the twins. The groans stopped, and a man with his jaw in a bandage came to the door, stared at the May Basket and tore it open. With a squeal of joy he gulped down the contents.

The three laughed and hurried on. "What was in it?" asked Dorfy; "and who was he?" asked Davy.

"The Man from the South. I thought the ice cream would help cool his burnt mouth. Let's see, the Mullet cottage is next."

And so the night's frolic went on. The delighted twins helped hang the May Basket on little Miss Muffet's door and chuckled to see how pleased she was with the tiny spider-trap. All the May Baskets had some suitable gift, besides the candy, for each of the Mother Goose people.

In Jack's basket was a neat package of cornplaster with which Jill could mend his broken crown. At Marjorie Daw's house they left nine bright new pennies, labeled "For Jenny." "We always felt Jenny was underpaid," said the Mouse. "What's a penny a day, these times?"

The Old Man who wouldn't say his prayers got a tiny candy crutch and a book of "Hints for Boys." The Wondrous Wise Man in Our Town, a sheet of sticky fly paper. "Letter's stickier-bars," explained the Ticklemouse. And so on down the long street, clear to the little house with the day's washing still fluttering on the garden line. Here they left a wee package marked: "Wax—keep your distance from the chimney corner!"

The night was such a busy and happy one that it was not till they were back in the nursery again that the twins got time to ask questions. Then Dorfy spoke the one that had puzzled her the most. "What was in that 'wee' package, Mr. Ticklemouse?" she asked, sleepily.

"That," said the Mouse, "was a new nose. The poor Maid in the Garden, I think, has been kept waiting long enough. I don't believe that miserable, thieving blackbird has the slightest intention of bringing her old one back!"

Excursion to Canada From Janesville, May 3rd

Here is an opportunity to go to the land of opportunity, where you can buy a farm on the crop payment plan, at $9.00 per acre and up.

This land is a one million acre tract owned by the Canadian Pacific Ry., which they are filling with settlers so as to make traffic for the railway. One hundred and fifty people are visiting this land daily. We claim this land to be better, to have better climate, better transportation to market, easier terms of payment and will produce larger crops than any land in Canada or United States.

Land at $13 per acre sells as follows: $311.55 down and at the end of a year pay the interest, $108.10, at the end of another year and for nine years pay $260.00 per year which covers cost of land, interest and everything.

Don't continue to live in a country where you just ek out an existence. Buy this Canada land where whole farms have been paid for from one year's crop. Investigate this wonderful opportunity. Get in touch with me. All literature free on request.

SEEMED LIKE THE OLD TIMES

Young Man's Visit to Telephone Exchange Was with a Definite Purpose.

A hush fell over the young women in the telephone exchange when they saw him enter. It was not a perceptible hush; the noise of the instruments and of the operators who were engaged in saying "Hello!" kept it from being that.

The visitor was a young man, but his face was full of, and full of, foreign expressions. These all vanished as he heard the din of conversation and machinery about him.

"Who is he?" asked one of the young women.

"Him?"

"Yes."

"Why, he is a man who was once a swell, but he lost his money and his friends. Whenever he begins to pine for his old associations, he comes up here and thinks of old times and feels happy."

"I don't see what he wants to come here for."

"Why, he listens to the noise, and laughs he's at a five-o'clock tea."
